

The Wellesley Amateur Radio Society will hold its second meeting of the season on October 8, at 8pm, in the clubroom located in the basement of the Wellesley Hills branch library at the junction of Routes 9 and 16.

We are very pleased to announce that The Reverend Daniel Linehan, S.J., Director of the Weston Observatory, will be the speaker. Father Dan has been a ham for over fifty years. In his travels, for the Observatory and with the Navy in his capacity as a geophysicist, he has operated his amateur station from every continent and from both polar regions. As almost every New England amateur knows, Father Dan is a fascinating speaker who draws crowds of listeners wherever he lectures. Tuesday, Father Dan will present a lecture with slides of his Antarctic expedition. All interested persons are invited to attend.
